The Area

Terry, the county seat for Prairie County, and the surrounding region capture the true essence of everything great about Eastern Montana: scenic badlands, rustic rivers, community spirit, friendly people, rural farming and ranching lifestyle, no traffic. The nearby Terry Badlands Wilderness Study Area and vast public land acres provide a dramatic backdrop for hiking, wildlife viewing, camping and endless outdoor recreation. Hunting and fishing opportunities abound. Terry is in prime white-tail and mule deer, antelope, pheasant, elk, turkey, waterfowl, upland bird, and varmint hunting. It is also in the heart of agate country, where people come from all over the United States to hunt along the rivers, creeks and nearby hills.

Prairie County offers many affordable housing options and supports several small businesses ranging from a bank, auto repair, gas station, gift shop, and small grocery store to excellent medical services provided by the Prairie Community Hospital and Clinic. The community supports an outdoor swimming pool, nestled in a large, beautifully treed park. There are many youth activities available, both in the school: drama club, FCCLA, Key Club, band, chorus, FFA, and the community at large: baseball, flag football (2018 state champions), 4-H, and a robust county fair to name a few. Located on I-94, Terry is an easy drive of 37 miles to Miles City, Montana, and 39 miles to Glendive, Montana for all other needs. Terry, home to the Evelyn Cameron heritage center, has a rich history and is loaded with charm and hospitality. The community pride of Prairie County is well deserved; it's a great place to live and work.
